NON-PEER REVIEW SECTION

CHANGING OF THE GUARD FOR FRESHWATER TURTLES

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

We are pleased to welcome Eric C. Munscher as the new Section Editor for Chelonians (freshwater). Eric brings more than 18 y of professional experience in freshwater turtle ecology, conservation, and applied endangered species science, with extensive leadership in long-term population studies and peer-reviewed research. He is actively involved with the Turtle Survival Alliance (North American Freshwater Turtle Group), serves as Natural Resources Program Director – Gulf Coast with SWCA Environmental Consultants, Vice Chair of Long Term Studies at the Ecological Society of America, and is also a Section Editor for Herpetology Notes.

Stepping down from the position is John H. Roe, Professor of Biology, University of North Carolina at Pembroke. We deeply appreciate the efforts of John guiding this active section over recent years and during the current transition. John remains as an Associate Editor.
