HERPETOLOGICAL CONSERVATION AND BIOLOGY TO BE INCLUDED IN JOURNAL CITATION REPORTS

GOVERNING BOARD¹

The Governing Board of Herpetological Conservation and Biology is pleased to announce that we received the following correspondence from Thomson-Reuters:

Tuesday, December 21, 2010

Dear Dr. McCallum:

I am happy to inform you that your journal "Herpetological Conservation and Biology" has been selected for coverage in the following Thomson Reuters products: Current Contents/Agriculture, Biology & Environmental Sciences, JCR, and SCIE. You can submit a request for coverage in Biosis. Please be advised that we need two full years worth of citations following acceptance for coverage in WoS in order to calculate an Impact Factor.

Regards,

Mariana Boletta
Sr. Editor
Healthcare & Science
Thomson Reuters

This news means that Herpetological Conservation and Biology is now included in Journal Citation Reports and will receive its first Impact Rating in 2012 or 2013. We have also submitted a request for coverage in Biosis (includes BioAbstracts) per the above e-mail.

HCB is now indexed / covered in the following resources:
